We are delighted that Gary Younge, the celebrated Guardian journalist who has written on 'race' and racism in both the British and American contexts will be Rotimi Akinsete's guest in a special edition of his acclaimed and innovative project Black Men on the Couch. Gary Younge's huge following is very well deserved.

Personal and professional experiences of African American Jungian analysts Fanny Brewster and Alan Vaughan illumine key and pressing issues in US politics, law, culture and therapies. The two speakers are widely appreciated internationally for their contributions to the fields of African American psychology and Jungian analysis. There will be much in this that is relevant to the British situation, especially (but not only) in the fields of psychotherapy, analysis and counselling. Helen Morgan, whose work develops an understanding of racism from a psychoanalytic/Jungian analytic perspective, will be the Respondent.

The links to British experience are also carried by a special edition of Rotimi Akinsete's acclaimed series BLACK MEN ON THE COUCH in which he engages in a therapy-style conversation with GARY YOUNGE of The Guardian.

In addition, Fanny Brewster will read some of her published poetry and Alan Vaughan will present a series of images of art from the African Diaspora, with a commentary.

The conference will be of interest to people in the therapy field, those working and studying in universities and colleges – and to members of the general public with an interest in the main themes.

BIOGRAPHIES

Dr Brewster's talk is entitled 'Binding Legacies: Ancestor, Archetype and Other'.

Dr Fanny Brewster's publications include African Americans and Jungian Psychology: Leaving the Shadows (Routledge, 2017), and Archetypal Grief: Slavery's Legacy of Intergenerational Child Loss (Routledge, 2018). Her poems have recently been published in Psychological Perspectives, where she was the Featured Poet.

Dr Brewster is a Jungian analyst and Professor at Pacifica Graduate Institute. She is a faculty member at the New York C.G. Jung Foundation and the Philadelphia Association of Jungian Analysts. She is a lecturer and workshop presenter on topics that address culture, diversity and creativity. Dr Brewster was most recently a speaker at the 2017 International Association for Jungian Studies Conference (IAJS) in Cape Town, South Africa.

Dr Vaughan's talk is entitled 'African Embodiments of Truth and Justice: Archetypal Perspectives on U.S. Constitutional Jurisprudence - A Critical Framework for Analysis of Jung's Experience of African America'.

Alan G. Vaughan, Ph.D., JD is in private practice as a Jungian analyst and a clinical and consulting psychologist in Oakland, California. As an analyst member of the C. G. Jung Institute of San Francisco, he is a contributor and serves on the editorial board of the Jung Journal of Culture and Psyche and on the Institute Committee on Diversity and Inclusivity. He has an academic appointment on the core doctoral psychology faculty at Saybrook University. His scholarly interests and publications are at the intersections of analytical psychology, historiography, U.S. constitutional jurisprudence and international law, and African Diaspora studies. His publications include A Study of the Transition of African American and African Males from Youth into Young Adulthood (1979); Jung, Analytical Psychology and Transpersonal Psychology (2013); Analytical and Cultural Perspectives on the Life and Art of Jacob Lawrence (2016).
